

SUTERA EVEREST GLACIER

The snowflake plant Bacopa, with its typical white-studded, trailing stems, has truly become a mainstay in the international bedding plant market. Through our own breeding efforts, we have been able to create varieties that have better branching and more flower power even during summer heat!

Generated On: November 12, 2026